Understanding the Epic Christian Story
by A. K. Fuller

This book is a brief overview of human existence, broken down into seven parts. Its purpose is to help us understand and feel more confident with the overall Christian story. It's an attempt to see and appreciate the proverbial “forest,” instead of getting frustrated by the confusing and endless “trees.” In these pages we will not just look at individual stories—we will be looking at the overall story of humanity. This is important because the story we believe we are living in shapes how we live our lives.

Lectures in Old Testament Theology

by Dennis F. Kinlaw, Edited by John N. Oswalt

In these lectures, first delivered in 1993, Dennis F. Kinlaw shows that there is indeed a single theology that rings through the pages of the Old Testament. That theology is centered in the unchanging nature of the transcendent Yahweh. Kinlaw does not slight the diversities of the text, but uses those diversities to underline the amazing consistency to be found in the treatment of Yahweh and in the understanding of the world arising from that perspective.

Prevenient Grace

by W. Brian Shelton

Evangelical Christian theology owes much to Jacobus Arminius's doctrine of prevenient grace—the idea that God enables fallen human beings to perceive the truth of the gospel and respond to it, despite their fallenness. This conviction moves Christians to engage in evangelism and foreign missions, confident that the Holy Spirit can prompt anyone to follow Christ.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Warner E. Sallman was born in Chicago, Illinois, April 30, 1892. He said, "My talent for painting and illustrating developed in me from early youth, and by divine direction I was led step-by-step toward a ministry of Christian art." Sallman attempted his first oil painting at the age of ten in the attic studio used by his father, also an artist. It was not until 1941, however, that Sallman's charcoal sketch, Head of Christ, gained enough recognition to be painted as an oil and was published by Kriebel & Bates, Inc.
